

Beowulf's Guide To Monster
Killing

Hello, I am Beowulf and I'm a mighty monster warrior, this guide is all about monster killing. If you read this guide carefully you will sure to be the best warrior in your land.

Weaponry

The best weaponry has to be extremely sharp and very deadly. You will have to make sure that before every battle your weapons are clean and shiny, also your weapons have to have a very good grip.

There are many different type of weaponry, but I find the best ones are swords, spear and mace. The best material to use for your weapons are stone, gold and silver.

Armor/clothing

Armor is very important in battle because it will stop you from getting very badly hurt. The most important thing to wear in battle is a helmet because it will protect your head from getting shot or stabbed or any other monster damage. You should also wear a tunic under any other armour on your body. On your shield there should be some spikes so if you lose your weapon you have back up. To keep yourself warm you can wear bear skin.

Preparing for battle

To prepare for battle you need to start by exercising every day for about four hours. You will also have to buy lots of supplies like food and water for your trip. The week before you go into battle you should spend every day with your family doing fun and exciting things.

Strategy

There are two very good strategy that you can use to help you kill the monster. My first strategy is to hide from the monster and then when the monster is facing away from you run up and stab them in the back. My second strategy is to hid and jump out at the monster when it's lest expecting it so the monster will be in shock and that's your chance to kill him.

Beast you may encounter

There are many different types of monsters but I've only come across five, the five I have come across are swamp hags, ten headed dogs, upside down headless monster and a slobbery one eyed monster. But watch out there are lots more monsters out there. Some of them are worse then what I have come across.

Taking care of your self

The very first thing you should do before going into battle is go to where you will be fighting and scan the area for any danger and if there is any you should try to sort it out, but if the danger is extremely bad then you should tell your leader and they will sort it.

Now that's everything you need to know about monsters(well I think)but the most important thing to remember is that if you follow exactly what I say you should stay safe, even though you are fighting a deadly monster.
